Dry Officers Plan Biggest Raid to Stop Smuggling In Florida

FEDERAL SLEUTHS 'GET INTO ACTION' WITHIN 24 HOURS; PLANS DECIDED ON

Prohibition Officers Are Set To Spring Down On Smugglers
SYSTEM ALREADY HAS BEEN STUDIED
Method of Contact From Cuban Side Known To Agents

(International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, March 6.—Prohibition officers today were set to spring down upon the Florida liquor smugglers. They will get into action along the Florida coast line within 24 hours. Officials predicted that they would bag a lot of the smugglers and uproot their caches of whiskey brought over from Cuba.
Prohibition Commissioner Haynes today felt confident that his squad of trained men were being concentrated, and other plans proceeded to strengthen the sea patrol in Florida waters, it would turn out to be the government's biggest smash at smugglers.
Plans for driving against the illicit rum traffickers were not disclosed by officials, lest it should warn the smugglers and afford chance for escape.

Colonel L. G. Nutt, one of Haynes' aides, left Washington for Florida today. Along with him went a staff of trained men in enforcement work. There was also in the party a group of experts from the revenue service. Before Nutt reaches points in Florida where the drive is to be launched, agents who have gone there from different states for temporary duty will be operating under the state prohibition director.
Colonel Nutt's main effort, it is understood, will be to break up the smugglers' system around the Florida key. He will make a vigorous effort to clean up the situation at Key West and waters adjacent to it and may engineer a number of raids which have been carefully planned.
Several agents may be detailed to go to Cuba. It is said that the government, through the enforcement units, already has studied the smuggling problem at close range on the Cuban side. The system worked by the smugglers and their methods of contact with confederates on the Florida coast are said to be known to prohibition officials.

Report of Negro Killing Received

A negro by the name of Hodges was killed in a pistol battle with another negro at Moulton Sunday night. The negro doing the killing escaped.
The sheriff's office here has been notified to be on the lookout for him, and every effort is being made to apprehend the man. It is said there are two other negroes implicated in the killing, and that the three are headed for this section. A deputy sheriff from Moulton was in the city today seeking information and endeavoring to locate the guilty ones.

GUESTS HONORED
MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 6.—(Special)—Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador, and other members of the diplomatic corps at Washington were guests of Montgomery Saturday night and delivered addresses at a mass meeting in the interest of the memorial commemorating the life work of General William C. Gorgas, native Alabamian. After the mass meeting the guests appeared at a reception in their honor at the University club.

Possible Resignation Of Lloyd George Temporarily Averted

The possible resignation of Premier Lloyd George, of Great Britain, has been temporarily averted by efforts of his colleagues to have political foes of the Prime Minister adopt a conciliatory attitude. The political crisis which caused Lloyd George to threaten resignation in a letter to Austen Chamberlain has not completely passed, however. The Premier is fighting the hardest battle of his political career. His adherents claim he will win. It is predicted, however, that in the event he loses he might be succeeded by Arthur J. Balfour, former Premier, who headed the British delegation to the Washington arms conference, or Austen Chamberlain, leader in the house of commons. Lord Birkenhead, who has enjoyed a meteoric rise in British politics, is also said to be a possibility for Premier. Sir George Younger, "Unionist boss," grouped around Lloyd George with the aforementioned notables, is openly hostile to the retention of the present Premier.

Stockholders Of Oil Company Will Hold Meet Tonight

Stockholders of the Albany-Decatur Oil and Gas company will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the rooms of the Albany chamber of commerce to discuss the oil situation here and to take up other matters affecting the company, including the election of officers for the year.
The well being drilled by the company on the English farm now has reached a depth of 1,800 feet and officers of the company are optimistic over the outlook for oil.
It is planned at tonight's meeting to reduce the stock in price and to attempt to secure sufficient funds to continue the drilling.

WORK O. K.
MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 6.—(Special)—Vocational work in Alabama sponsored by the federal government is perfect and no fault could be found during an inspection of the various institutions, according to the statement made today by R. D. Maltby, regional agent of the federal board of vocational education, on his arrival in Montgomery from the inspection trip.

GREAT ACTIVITY IN SUNDAY SCHOOL IS REFLECTED HERE IN LARGE ATTENDANCE

Benevolent Collections Also Show Big Increase In Albany-Decatur

CONTESTS BRINGING IN MANY MORE MEMBERS

Men and Women Classes Making Efforts To Exceed Other

Great activity has been manifested for the last two months by members of the several Sunday schools of the Twin Cities, along the lines of service laid down for them all through the years, by the ministers and other religious workers. But especially, has the attendance and benevolent collections of the schools been on the increase.
The leaders in the present movement are the large Bible classes, and the method chosen by most of these has been to institute contests between the old members to see which class or division of a class was able to secure the most new members in a given time. In some cases the men and women of a school have entered into agreements whereby a contest was waged, the group losing to be penalized one way and another at the close of the campaign.

CASH PAYMENT PROVISIONS NOW ARE CONSIDERED

(International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, March 6.—An amendment to the soldier bonus bill, providing for the payment of cash compensation to the dependents or heirs of veterans who have died since the armistice, were under consideration today by the Republican members of the house ways and means committee.
The committee also took up several other minor amendments with the expectation of perfecting the bill so that it can be considered tomorrow by the full committee before Chairman Fordney formally lays the measures before the house. There is expected to be little delay in the passage of the bill once the committee completes its work as practically all opposition to the new cash insurance plan has been removed.

Over a Million Fords Are Sold

Retail sales of Ford cars, trucks and Fordson tractors have again exceeded the million mark for the year 1921, according to a statement given out today by the Ford Motor company.
The Ford factory and assembly plant production figures reached a total of 1,050,740 cars, trucks and tractors for the year, with retail sales by dealers approximating 1,093,000, which in the United States alone surpassed the 1920 retail sales record by 104,213 Ford cars and trucks.
The Ford Motor company says the outlook for 1922 is decidedly optimistic. In fact, concrete evidences already exist in that car and truck retail sales for December 1921 exceeded December 1920 sales by almost 25 per cent, and Fordson tractor retail sales for the same periods show an increase of over 100 per cent for December 1921, as well as an increase over the total tractor sales for the month of November.

CULLMAN CITIZEN KILLED AND CHIEF OF POLICE IS HURT THEN SURRENDERS

Edward Imbush Shot To Death During Alleged Attack On Officer

FOLLOWED ARREST OF CARL SUTTERER

Officer Gives Himself Up To The Sheriff Of Cullman County

(International News Service.)
CULLMAN, Ala., March 6.—Edward Imbush is dead and Chief of Police J. M. West is injured following an arrest by Chief West of Carl Sutterer here Sunday night on a charge of disorderly conduct and an alleged attack on the chief.
According to the story told by officers, Chief West was attracted by a disturbance on the main business street here Sunday evening and upon investigation, placed Sutterer under arrest.
Officers state that the Chief and Sutterer were accompanied to the city hall, where Sutterer was to make bond, by Edward Imbush and George Clark. The attack is said to have been made upon the chief there.
In the struggle it was alleged the gun of the chief was discharged and two bullets took effect in the shoulder of Imbush. A third bullet entered the ceiling, it was stated.
Shortly after the shooting Chief West surrendered to the sheriff of Cullman county.

LOS ANGELES CONTRACTOR TELLS HOUSE COMMITTEE BAND OF CONTRACTORS WILL SUBMIT BID TO TAKE OVER THE PROJECT

J. E. Levering Attacks Three Proposals Already Made By Ford, Engstrom and Power Company, Declaring Ford's Is Worst of Lot

(International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, March 6.—A new offer for lease and operation of the government owned nitrate and power plant at Muscle Shoals, Ala., is to be submitted to Secretary of War Weeks today, J. E. Levering, Los Angeles civil engineer, told the house military affairs committee today.
The new bid is to be offered by Thomas Hampton, of Georgia, in behalf of an association of contractors, Levering testified. Levering, in making the announcement, attacked the three offers now before the committee.
He charged that the bid of Henry Ford, the Alabama Power company and Frederick E. Engstrom "are well worded obligations for a hand out from the government."
He declared that none of them "rise to the dignity of a contract" and characterized Engstrom's bid as "foolish and absurd," but "better than Ford's or the Alabama Power company's."
Levering told the committee he had assisted Engstrom in drawing up his original contract, but that with modifications to it he had "quit" because he could not stand by "such a grab."
He charged that Ford's is "the worst of all" and then told the committee that the proposed new bid would be better than all three on which the committee has been holding four weeks of hearings.
The committee concluded testimony from Engstrom today. Engstrom declared his proposal meant utilization of the plant at Muscle Shoals "in the most efficient manner and at the least cost and guarantees and the most liberal cash return to the government."
Chairman Kahn announced today that he may call Secretary of the Treasury Mellon to appear before the committee to advise it on the financial end of the bid submitted. The committee, it was explained, wants to find out whether the government is able, at this time, to finance the completion of the Shoals project and at the same time face a big monetary outlay to defend lawsuits which will result from lease to anyone but the Alabama Power company.
Chairman Kahn conferred with Speaker Gillette today and later declared his intention of introducing a resolution in the house providing for the military affairs committee inspecting the Muscle Shoals plant.
The resolution will not be offered, however, until Chairman Ireland or the committee on accounts, can be necessary.

VOLCANO SHOWS NO SIGNS OF ABATING CROSSING TRAGEDY

(International News Service.)
NAPLES, Italy, March 6.—The eruption of the volcano Mt. Vesuvius, after an earthquake shock, showed no signs of abating. Smoke and lava are still belching from the crater.
A young American novelist descended into the crater after the earthquake shock and escaped uninjured. Director Malladra, of Vesuvius observatory, also descended into the crater to view the inferno and received slight burns.

Alabama Farms In Better Shape

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily)
MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 6.—Alabama farms will have enough home grown corn to run them through the crop year, according to the weekly summary of market conditions issued today by the state bureau of markets and immigration. It is possible that some purchases may be necessary by farmers of west and southwest Alabama.
The prices of grain, especially of corn, have made material advances during the past three weeks in line with the advance in the prices of hogs, but little corn is being placed on the market, indicating to the bureau of markets that farmers are determined to hold their corn for use during the crop-growing season.

RAISE FENCE TO CURB SWATS OF BABE RUTH

(International News Service.)
NEW ORLEANS, La., March 6.—Householders in the neighborhood of Hibernian Park became alarmed when Babe Ruth, king of swat, came along here to train with the New York Yankees. Premises would be bombarded by baseballs clouted from the fungus stick of the Bambino, claimed the residents. Julius Heinemann, president of the local baseball club, took notice. And in order to curb the clouts of the home-run king the walls surrounding the ballyard have been made four feet higher.

Almon Still Is Very Optimistic

Congressman Edward B. Almon, of this the Eighth district, is still optimistic over the chances of the Ford offer being accepted by congress, according to a letter received here today.
Congressman Almon also announced that he will accompany the house military affairs committee members when they go to Muscle Shoals to inspect the government's project there.

HOTELS CLOSED

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 6.—(Special)—Two hotels and two cafes were closed permanently and two hotels and one cafe were closed temporarily in Alabama because of insanitary conditions during February, according to the monthly report of T. B. S. Matthews and T. A. Belsler, rural sanitary engineers of the state health department, today. The hotels and cafe which were closed temporarily will be permitted to open again when the insanitary conditions are removed.

HEALTH PROBLEM UP

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 6.—(Special)—The problem of supplying health officer to the counties and other political subdivisions in the United States which are calling for them will be discussed in a conference at Washington next week, called by the surgeon-general of the nation.

WE FAVOR ACCEPTANCE OF HENRY FORD'S BID FOR MUSCLE SHOALS.

THE SUCCESS OF EUROPE WILL AID AMERICAN BUSINESS.

This country is interested not one fig, in the political situation in Europe, only as it may affect business conditions throughout the world, and in America especially. The Genoa conference is being boosted as the solution for the economic ills that have all but brought all Europe to bankruptcy. The moving spirit now promoting that conference is David Lloyd George, speeder-up of the English in the great war, and chief navigator in bringing the Irish Free state nation into port. George is credited with saving England from destruction from without, from the tone he assumed the Premiership, following the forced resignation of Asquith. The winning of the war, as far as England is concerned, is due primarily to the efforts of Mr. George. He is also credited with preventing internal troubles from destroying the British commonwealth, brought on by seven or more centuries of ill will between the Irish and the English. His friends now say, that Mr. George will attempt to save Europe from economic ruin, and that the proposed Genoa conference will be the means used.

Almost more than one Lloyd George has maneuvered the French and the Russians to a common council table—almost a superhuman task considering the relations that have existed between these nations for the last few years. It is claimed also, that the wily Welshman, proposes to get the Germans themselves, received at Paris or Genoa, for a conference on economic conditions. A lot of idle talk is being indulged in as to what are the motives that are ruling George, his enemies say that he is moved solely by vanity and false ambition, others claim he is as truly a patriot as was President Wilson in this country. His enemies say that he is tricky, unscrupulous, and treacherous; while his supporters declare he is moved by the purest motives and loftiest ambitions. Whatever his reasons, certainly no one will deny that Lloyd George has undertaken superhuman tasks, and that up to the present he has been successful in a large degree. This country will his efforts and progress in restoring business in Europe, quite as eagerly, if not more so than they have watched his conduct of the English part in the World War, and his management of the British-Irish settlement—or of true to be more exact. For Americans are learning very fast in late years that no nation can trade to itself and be prosperous, any moer than individuals can live successfully, without mutual respect and co-operation.

THE MASS MEETING FOR THE FORD OFFER.

The greatest mass meeting ever held in Montgomery, the Ford meeting of yesterday, voiced the public sentiment of the State—that sentiment pleads for and demands the acceptance of the offer of Henry Ford for Muscle Shoals. The crowd was as serious as it was enthusiastic, its seriousness was its outstanding characteristic.

So far as public sentiment exists today in Alabama there can be no mistake that sentiment is for Ford and against all other bidders. The Detroit manufacturer has captured the imagination of the people of Alabama, and won their aggressive support. If it were in their power to give Henry Ford Muscle Shoals, as a free will offering, Alabamians would cheerfully do it. That mass meeting yesterday cherished the fiery hope that all obstacles would be overcome and that Ford's manufacturing genius would have an unobstructed road to building a greater manufacturing city along the Tennessee than has been built at Detroit. Any individual, any corporation that stood in the way of the fulfillment of this hope was denounced amid applause at the great gathering which filled the auditorium.

That enthusiastic assembly adopted all the practical means that could be found, and focussed them on Congress where the real fight is to be made. It demanded that the ownership and activities of the Alabama Power company be investigated, that means be found to make Alabama's voice clear and intelligible to the Republican membership of Congress. And, the crowd heard the most intelligent, concise and convincing argument made in support of the Ford offer that has been heard at Washington or anywhere else, in the speech of ex-Governor O'Neal. The supporters of the Ford offer, we are told, are relying on the O'Neal speech for the climax of their argument before Congress. Certainly they could have no better support in argument and logic; it is a pity that Congress could not have heard its eloquent delivery.

The assembled gathering heard, too, the direct story of the Ford offer, a connected and clear-cut account of all the proceedings, by J. W. Worthington, who got Henry Ford interested in Muscle Shoals and who persuaded Mr. Ford to make his original offer. Mr. Worthington is credited with having written the Ford offer. This may or may not be true, but it is certain that Mr. Worthington is responsible for the development of Muscle Shoals as far as it has gone, and for the interest that Ford is taking in Muscle Shoals.

The meeting assumed, naturally, a political aspect. As a matter in which the people are so deeply interested, it must inevitably enter into their the Ford offer. No candidate for public office in Alabama this year, could oppose the Ford offer and have any hope for election.

It was an interesting assembly that thus reflected the voice of Alabama. It was the first great State convention in Alabama presided over by a woman and which women attended in such large numbers. The attendants upon it came from every quarter of the State. The auditorium will ordinarily seat approximately 3,400 people. The size of the auditorium, however, was no standard by which the size of the crowd could be judged, for at no time during the afternoon could it accommodate all who wanted to get in. Hundreds and hundreds of people were turned away because they could not get standing room.

Naturally the largest out of town delegation came from the Tennessee Valley, but by far the most impressive delegation came from Mobile. The aggressive and progressive spirit of Mobile was shown in the enthusiastic crowd which came from Alabama's only seaport. Mobile, engrossed in one great economic development, the improvement of the State's only port, recognized the improvement of Muscle Shoals in North Alabama as a kindred endeavor for the upbuilding of the greatness of Alabama. The splendid effort made by Mobile in behalf of the Ford offer has linked together these two great purposes, the development of Muscle Shoals and the development of the port of Mobile.—Montgomery Advertiser.

Conditions have greatly changed during the last five years. Five years ago it was the rule to go to the merchant and meet his requirements and he would furnish the things that we should have raised on the farm. It was also a regular custom to go each spring and make reservations for fertilizer at any price. Fertilizer is now being handled by the Farm Bureau's of the different counties of the state in connection with the state organization. Things are changing, and with it a better condition is evolving out of which better conditions will grow. It will be a sad and dear lesson for many of us, but, we will be better thereby and can profit from the experience.

It now seems that there is going to be dragging markets for the large crop of sweet potatoes that was raised in the state last season. Many of them were put into the curing houses, and are in a fine state of preservation. There has been no market since they were stored that would be attractive to the seller and the question is one of patient waiting. Just what will be the outcome is problematical.

It is the disposition of many who have potatoes in the curing houses to bed them and produce slips to sell to the public. When it is taken into consideration that there is annually shipped into the county thousands upon thousands of potato plants from growers in and out of the state, it would seem that the idea to bed would be the solution. The plants bring from $2.00 to $2.50 per thousand?

The honeysuckle time of life is here. Wild honeysuckle is the earliest of the wild fragrant shrubs to bloom. It can be found on many of the creeks and hilly places along the valleys and mountainsides of this county. It is fragrant indeed, and many happy occasions have young and old alike experienced in gathering this fragrant flower, that is herald of spring.

Hard to make a fellow see what he doesn't want to see. The fertilizer trust saw that Henry Ford would make fertilizer at Muscle Shoals the moment he said he would. They didn't see it actually, but they knew it.

Somebody is going to fall out of the Muscle Schuffle in an awful hacked up condition if they don't watch out.

How much more the natural advantages of the country would and could be utilized if the disposition were made to the one who promised the best development on a basis to benefit the greatest number of her citizens. Nothing complicated about this procedure, but there is something complicated about the matter when delay is the ruling factor in its disposition.

What a great change can come within the short span of a month. Just a little more than a month cotton will be planted. Corn will be up. The meadows will nearly be ready to mow. Pasturage will be good; birds will be nesting; trees will be leafy, peach and apple blossoms. What a change from now. The country flooded with water, the sun having been obscured from view for six days. But nature works fast and well.

Big business feels the pulsations of a return of better times perhaps quicker than individuals, and are ready at all times to make provision to take care of it. The recent order putting the men in the wood-working department of the shops on six day basis, is an evidence, as quick as conditions warrant the company is ready to act.

We congratulate the Albany-Decatur Daily upon the celebration of the anniversary of its tenth birthday. The Daily has grown into a wonderful small town daily and enjoys the respect and admiration of the clientele it serves. Many happy returns of the day Brother Shelton and may the expansion of the Daily be greater than the past decade.—Colbert County Reporter.

From water soaked lands and fields there will soon be planted the seed where-withal to feed the teeming millions of earth. They who plant seed in the ground have faith in the future, and see not only the seed and soil but the ripened fruit. If this were not so, what man is there who could spend his time planting and cultivating the earth and depositing the seed which to all intents and purposes represents a dead inanimate thing, but possessed with the life principle. It is the life principle that exists that gives faith to the effort. Not what appears on the surface.

Impressive Sermon Is Delivered By Rev. Walker At Southside Church

Rev. Grover Cleveland Walker, pastor of the Southside Baptist church, delivered an impressive sermon yesterday morning, from the text: "For none of us liveth to himself and no man dieth to himself." Throughout the thoughtful discourse which appears in part, the minister impressed the solemnity of "personal responsibility."

Preceding the sermon the congregation was led by the chorus choir of the church in a number of stirring hymns. The chorister in charge of the music was G. A. Halbrooks.

"The World today," said Rev. Walker, "more than most of us realize, is dependent upon its several parts to make up the whole. These several parts are dependent upon the individuals of whom these parts are composed. Therefore, if we would have a good world we must have a world composed of good parts, and if we would have a world composed of good parts we must have parts composed of good individuals."

If we would have a mercantile world which will function righteously, we must have individual merchants who are willing to function righteously.

"If we would have shop Crafts which will function righteously, we must first of all have individual shop men who are guided by righteous principles."

"The Christian world is dependent absolutely upon its numerous parts, or individuals, to make a whole which will function as it ought to function."

Before we can ever have a Christian world which will function as it ought to function, we must have Christian men and women who are willing, yes, even anxious, to function as a Christian ought to function. The fundamental principle laid down by our Lord is 'Individual Responsibility.' So by this principle of individual effort he proposes to further his kingdom. So strong is the will of God in this direction that we find the universe, both Temporal and Spiritual, geared to this principle. For instance, the merchant may sell goods from a selfish motive but yet God has so fixed it that the very distribution of his goods may bless humanity. So the man at some other work may work with a motive which is entirely selfish but yet in God's way of connecting things his very working blesses mankind.

"So in the religious realm it is just as true. A man's life whether good or bad has its bearing upon other lives. The Apostle therefore spoke a great truth in behalf of Christianity when he said, 'For none of us liveth to himself, and no man dieth to himself.'"

"The first thing, therefore, to be considered by any individual who has reached the years of accountability, is: 'God has made me a living soul. Intelligent, therefore responsible to God, and because I am responsible to him, I must, as an individual make my peace with him.'"

"The second thing to be considered is: God has entrusted me with a life. The successive years and stages of which it is composed are entrusted to me from the hand of God. Its advantages, both the capacities and endowments which are natural, and the education and associations which providence has secured to me. Its opportunities, both of acquiring good and doing good. Strictly speaking, it is not for these but for the use we make of them that we are responsible. We are to bear in mind that though we live, we do not live unto ourselves."

"The third thing one should consider: Tremendous issues may depend upon the way that life is lived. Our influence is always very busy, someone will follow us. Our influence may be the means of some going into eternity prepared or unprepared as the case may be. This seems to warrant, for every individual, eternal bliss or woe. Eternal because our influence, whether good or bad is eternal."

"The fourth and greatest thing to be considered is that each person must account to God. Whether we live or die it is unto the Lord. My life is entrusted to me, it is unsaluted to any other. My life could not be lived by any other, it is peculiarly adapted to me, and I must live it myself unto God. As we live and die in his sight and unto him it is just that we should account to him. This account depends upon the present life for what it shall be. All things exist today to the intent that God's people may, here and now have a chance to prepare for eternity. God's judgment is very different from statutory judgment, with statutory judgment there is first, Verdict, then Penalty, then open shame. With love as the judge, one violates law, and says 'I am sorry for it and will turn away from it forever.' Then love says 'I will forsake the memory of it, and destroy the record of it, through the blood of Jesus.'"

"God grant that it may be so with every one of you," concluded the preacher fervently.

ALL ARE SUBJECT TO INCOME TAX

Every citizen of the United States is subject to the provisions of the income tax law. He may live in this country or he may live abroad, possessing no property within the United States and deriving no income from sources within the United States. Nevertheless, he must file a return if single and his net income for 1921 was $1,000 or more, or if married and his net income was $2,000 or more, or his gross income was $5,000 or more. Divorces or persons separated from husband or wife by mutual agreement are classed as single persons.

The same obligation to file a return and pay the tax rests on a resident alien, although his entire income may be derived from sources without the United States.

While forms were sent to persons who last year filed returns, failure to receive a form does not relieve an individual of his or her obligation to file a return and pay the tax on time—on or before March 15, if filed on a calendar year basis. Forms 1040A for returns of income of $5,000 and less and 1040 for returns of income in excess of $5,000 may be obtained at the office of Collector of Internal Revenue, Birmingham, Ala., and the following branch offices: Montgomery and Mobile, Ala.

REVIVAL SERVICES

The revival services at Westside Presbyterian church conducted by O. P. Armour are held every day at 4 and 7:30 p. m. Evangelist Armour is a very fine speaker. Big crowds are attending each service. J. A. Miller is conducting the singing. They are having very fine music.

Arrangements have been made to take care of the crowds comfortably.

WOULDN'T YOU

like to know that whenever you break your lenses that you could save the pieces and bring us a small piece and we could duplicate the old lens and wouldn't have to have the prescription to do it. We would grind them in our shop. You wouldn't have to wait for them to be ordered. If your eyes are poor, you couldn't help but appreciate the fact that you could get them promptly. If you wanted new lenses we would test your eyes and fit them without any extra charge for testing.

THE NEW MOON

By Juanita Hamel

MANY an unhappy young man who is lonely thinks of himself as all alone and forgotten on a desert island while all the rest of the world is gay and glad and never, never lonesome. But when above HIS horizon there rises a moon—a new moon—THE moon—well, what a wide world acquires in its romantic light!

RATIFICATION OF TREATY IS URGED

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, March 6—The alternative for such undertakings and understandings as the amendment conference developed "is such a rule of brute force as will plunge the world into chaos and threaten humanity with oblivion," Senator New, Republican of Indiana, told the senate today.

With a long prepared speech urging ratification of the conference treaty, Senator New, as an administration spokesman, opened what promised to be at least another week's debate on the four-power Pacific pact.

NEWS OF HARTSELLE

Excavations are being made at different points in this section looking to the development of the asphalt possibilities located near here. An excavation made near town to a depth of something over 10 feet revealed the fact that asphalt does exist in quantities, and of such character as to be well worth development. The big idea is to get the development to such a stage that it will be available for the road construction which will be made on a large scale during 1922, beginning so soon as conditions will warrant.

Several options have already been taken on lands where asphalt is known to exist in the county, and some improved farms will likely be sold upon which there is known to exist asphalt and upon which a lease or option has been taken. The situation looks decidedly better than at any time since the present inquiry and search for asphalt began.

A well drilled west of this place to a depth of 20 feet was found to be so strongly impregnated with asphalt and in such quantities that it adhered to the drill, and the water to be used at all must be strained.

G. H. Doss has rented the Dr. W. M. Booth home in the southwestern part of the town and will move there soon and begin housekeeping. The home has been used to house the armory for the past year, and since the erection of the new armory in East Hartselle the cavalry troop is now located there.

There is a strong probability that some of the public schools of the county will close the term soon. This is occasioned by the fact as stated by Superintendent of Education E. L. Hays, that the schools are being more largely attended than at any time in the history of the county, and it was necessary to employ more teacher, than formerly to take care of the large increase. It was pointed out that in those districts where the three mill tax was voted there is still ample funds to take care of the schools to the full term.

Supt. Hays stated further, that the schools of the county are in better condition than at any time in their history and that the best work was being done in the public school than at any time of which he had knowledge he having been connected with them for the past 25 years as teacher and superintendent of education. The county board of education deems it best to close some of the schools April 1st, rather than the teacher work without the probability of pay for some time.

A school building is just completed in the Collins school house locality district 25. This school is being erected with state aid, is a modern three room building, and great interest is attending its erection by the patrons and students of that locality. The school name will be changed from Collins school, to Barclay school. There have been erected in the county during the past eighteen months 15 school buildings, at a cost of about $80,000. Five more are a possibility before the expiration of the year, at least are now being made for them at this time, the work to begin at an early date.

The Hartselle Chamber of Commerce at a recent meeting went on record as strongly favoring the Ford bid for Muscle Shoals and condemned the bid of the Alabama Power Co., and the eleventh hour methods shown by this company.

The chamber of commerce has instructed the secretary to write many letters to those in authority on the subject, bringing all the pressure possible to have them use their utmost influence to pull the Ford plan in the disposition of this important water power.

Considerable complaint is heard on the part of motorists traveling the Bee Line Highway on the condition of the roads entering Hartselle from the north, and in the limits of the corporation. Great mud holes are in evidence and are growing larger with the heavy travel and each occurring rain.

This condition has been brought to the attention of the city authorities, and it is understood that repair work will begin at once, and that this unpleasant feature of the otherwise fine highway will be eliminated so soon as material can be gotten to repair same.

Messrs. Burleson and Jackson, contractors who have the contract for the resurfacing of the east pike from Hartselle, began preliminary work there Monday morning. A force of men and teams were sent to the point of beginning, and with pretty weather the work will be carried on without interruption. The work is urgently needed, as the pike is almost impassable at some points along the way.

The pretty weather of Sunday brought out large congregations to the different churches at preaching service. The Sunday schools were all to the development of the asphalt possibilities located near here. An excavation made near town to a depth of something over 10 feet revealed the fact that asphalt does exist in quantities, and of such character as to be well worth development. The big idea is to get the development to such a stage that it will be available for the road construction which will be made on a large scale during 1922, beginning so soon as conditions will warrant.

Hardie C. Harris left today for Montgomery to interview the appointing power which will fill the vacancy on the board of revenue occasioned by the death of John L. Foote. It is understood that Mr. Harris has strong indorsement for the place.

There is splendid good health being noted at Hartselle and in the country districts roundabout. The flu has disappeared and no other serious sickness is being reported from any section in close proximity to the town.

Dr. W. M. Booth was at Albany Sunday at Benevolent hospital to see a patient of his who was operated on there a few days ago for appendicitis. He found him doing splendidly, and will be dismissed from the hospital by the middle of this week.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

This is not a very fortunate day, according to the astrological testimonies. While in certain directions affairs promise to be lively enough, great results may not be expected under a hostile planetary rulership. In matters relating to writings and publicity it may be well to plan for future returns, but it will be advisable to act with cool judgment and with precautions against betrayal or fraud. There is a sinister aspect warning against fraud and subtle attack which can be safely overcome by calmness and care.

Those whose birthday it is have a rather negative forecast. They would be wise to make all moves with coolness and with the idea of safeguarding against fraud and duplicity. Those in the employment of others should be cautious. A child born on this day may be disposed to be rash and to invite adversity unless it be given early training in self-control and cautious behavior.

Birds' Moming Instinct.

The homing instinct in migrating birds consists of their wonderful ability to detect changes in climate and the direction of the compass for their "home" may cover a large area. The feat is all accomplished by the observation of landmarks.

A Citizens of Taylorville, Madison County Given Up To Die

W. W. H. Smith, of Taylorville, writes as follows:

For fourteen years I suffered with indigestion and on the 27th day of August, 1921, I was stricken down and took my bed, called in a physician and he treated me for months, I continued to grow worse and worse, he finally said that medicine would do me no good and said I could not live but a short while, they took me to the hospital in Huntsville, Ala., and there gave me the serum treatment, it did me no good, I continued to grow worse and worse. Finally a friend of mine brought me a bottle of Poindestor's Improved Tonic. I began to improve almost from the first dose. I weighed then 116 pounds. I continued to improve and after taking six bottles I now weigh 189 pounds. I gained in weight 73 pounds. I am now in perfect health. I give the praise to Poindestor's Tonic. It saved my life.

Anyone doubting the truthfulness of the above statement, we refer them to Mr. R. A. Parsons, one of Huntsville's most respected citizens.

SLEDGES CALLED PLEASURE

VEHICLES BY OHIO HAYOR

(International News Service.)

CINCINNATI, Ohio, March 6.—Despite the ruling of a New York Magistrate to the contrary, sleds are pleasure vehicles and will be considered so by police officials of Cincinnati, Mayor George Carroll declared after reading of the suspended sentence given to a man because he insisted upon pulling a sled, on a park where all but pleasure vehicles were barred.

"Kids get more pleasure out of their sleds than their parents do out of their automobiles," the Mayor said. "I look back over my coasting days with the greatest pleasure."

MOON-M'DUFF.

HUNTSVILLE, March 5.—O. E. Moon and Miss Jimmie Lee McDuff were married yesterday at the First Baptist parsonage, Rev. W. M. Blackwelder officiating. Only a few friends witnessed the ceremony.—Age-Herald.

The above dispatch will be read with much interest by the many friends here of the bride, who is a sister of Gordon McDuff, and who has visited here a number of times.

The Ferry street Rook club will meet Friday afternoon at three o'clock with Mrs. T. M. Jones, Sr., as hostess at her home on Ferry street. Members will please notice the change of hour from 2:30 to 3 p. m.

Mrs. J. T. Jones will leave tonight for West Palm Beach, Fla., to attend the Sun Dance and to be the guest of her sister, Mrs. R. E. Oliver, for a few weeks.

Mrs. C. B. Elliott left today for a week's visit to Atlanta, where she will join Mrs. R. G. Cortner.

Mrs. Bayles is the expected guest of her daughter, Mrs. J. Y. Hamil.

Mrs. T. M. Jones, Sr., Mrs. E. J. Polhill and daughter, Emma Frances, have returned from Hartselle where they attended the Larkin-Kimbrough wedding.

Mrs. S. G. Ashford and Miss Jeff Byrd, of Courtland, are expected Tuesday for a few days' visit to Mrs. Carl Happer.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Tweedy and Robert Tweedy motored from Courtland Sunday to be the guests of friends here.

Mrs. Russell Moseley, who is ill at the Benevolent hospital, is reported improving.

Mrs. J. E. Yarbrough underwent a serious operation at the Benevolent hospital this morning. Her many friends hope her recovery will be rapid.

Mrs. J. H. Donnell returned Saturday from an extended visit to her sister, Mrs. Hart, in Nashville, Tenn. While there Mrs. Donnell was extensively entertained.

Mrs. W. T. Watkins is ill at her home in West Albany.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Tuck have returned from a visit to relatives and friends in Nashville.

Miss Willie Beard has returned from Hampshire, Tenn., where she was the guest of friends.

Miss Jewel Herring spent the weekend with relatives at Bashams Chapel.

An interesting paper on "Coal, Iron and Oil as History Makers" was read before the Saturday club by Miss Mary Turley, instead of Miss Mary Banks as inadvertently stated in The Daily.

Mrs. M. L. Carter will leave tomorrow to spend the week in Nashville, the guest of her aunt, Miss Lizzie Garntland.

Mr. and Mrs. Tully Turner have returned to Huntsville, after a pleasant visit to Mr. and Mrs. Claude Phillips on Sherman street.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—"Econimize through movies" is the slogan which schools the country over are adopting, according to Clyde A. Mann, educational statistician, who declares that classroom use of films and other visual aids will reduce the problem of "repeaters" by fully 50 per cent. Boys and girls who have the advantage of visual supplements to the textbook learn their lessons better and retain them longer.

"Thirty-five million dollars a year could be saved to the taxpayers of this country through the nation-wide use of visual education in our public schools," asserts Mr. Mann, producing definite figures in support of this statement.

"According to the 1920 census report, over 20,000,000 children attend school. It is conservatively estimated that at least 10 per cent fail to achieve promotion each year. These 2,000,000 'repeaters' mean an added expense of $70,000,000 annually. In schools where it has been possible to measure the efficacy of visual education in concrete results and in definite figures, it has been proved that annual failures have been cut from 10 to five per cent. Eliminate five per cent of the failures by improved methods of teaching, and you effect a saving of at least $35,000,000."

In making these statements, Mr. Mann refers to the carefully-planned films produced by educators with a first-hand knowledge of everyday classroom problems. Motion pictures like the geography, astronomy, physics and nature study films distributed by the Society of Visual Education and similar educational organizations, are the only type of film which should find place in the classroom during school hours, according to this authority.

Further evidence on this subject comes from Dr. J. Paul Goads, professor of geography at the University of Chicago, who emphasizes the essential economy of motion pictures in the schoolroom.

Second Car Hoosier Kitchen Cabinets Received To-day Since Feb. 11

"Yes, Madam, we have the HOOSIER in your height"

Much of the fatigue experienced by women is due to the strain of working at a table-top which is too high or too low. Women's work often requires vigorous muscular action, such as kneading bread, stirring cake, beating eggs, pounding steak, etc. Unless such work is placed at exactly the right height, the effort is magnified many times.

The fact that the Hoosier now provides you with a working center having a table-top adjusted to suit your height means that you can not only save miles of steps and hours of time each day—but that those useless backaches will be banished from your kitchen.

IS YOUR KITCHEN MAKING YOU OLD OR KEEPING YOU YOUNG?

convenient but less expensive. Today the best kitchens are planned with a place for the Hoosier, because the Hoosier is not only more convenient but less expensive than built-in equipment supposed to take its place. As a matter of fact, in thousands of kitchens costly built-in equipment has actually been torn out to make way for the Hoosier.

Think how your husband would object if he had to walk two miles in a hot, steamy kitchen each day.

Yet recent tests prove that, even in the average "modern" kitchen, the woman who does her own work walks that much every day in the year—and is forced to do much needless stooping and lifting.

The Hoosier will prevent that unnecessary work. It will save you miles of steps each day.

It will concentrate most of your kitchen tasks in a single, compact spot, so that you can perform them, seated—at your ease.

You Do Not Notice How Many Steps You Waste

The unnecessary steps you take are scattered over a whole day—therefore you do not notice them. But by evening all this useless walking, stooping and lifting has levied an undue toll on your energy.

Surely you would appreciate the opportunity to spend less time in your kitchen and to end the day feeling fresh and vigorous, instead of being too tired to enjoy yourself.

Two million women have been saved that needless work and worry—it is a saving no woman can appreciate until she actually uses the Hoosier in her own home.

Big Kitchens, Little Kitchens, all Made Happier With a Hoosier

Many women who thought their kitchens could not be improved, have now found that it doesn't make any difference what kind of a kitchen you have—in a city or on a farm, in a big house or a small apartment—the Hoosier will save that wasted time and energy.

While cupboards, shelves and pantries are necessary they can never take the place of the Hoosier. No matter what other equipment you may have, the Hoosier will make your work easier.

When you own a Hoosier you not only centralize your work, but are provided with many labor-saving devices which have never before been incorporated in a kitchen convenience.

These new and exclusive improvements are essential to your kitchen-comfort. They may be had only in the Hoosier.

Every day you do without it you are paying an unnecessary tax in wasted time and strength.

How to Own the Hoosier and Never Miss the Money

Why wear yourself out? If yours is an average kitchen, you need the Hoosier—and need it so badly that you should be willing to make any reasonable sacrifice to get it.

But that isn't necessary. It doesn't take a big outlay.

MY MARRIAGE PROBLEMS

Adele Garrison's New Phase of Revelations of a Wife

Copyright, 1922, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

How Mother Graham Stripped the Mask from Elizabeth.

I had not suspected Elizabeth Harrison's secret discipline of her children, masked by her pretence of governing them without coercion. I would have had the conviction of the truth forced upon me when I saw Mary's terror-stricken eyes leap to her mother's face at her grandmother's adjuration.

Mrs. Harrison's own face banished whatever doubt I might have had. At her mother's words, indicating that Mary was the one responsible for the taking of the Oriental necklace, my sister-in-law set little Roderick down upon the ground and advanced a step toward the shrinking Mary with a face that might have been cut out of marble, and a set little smile that made me shiver, so tellingly cruel did it appear to my excited imagination.

But her voice was as placid as always, when she spoke, and I gazed at her fascinated by the contrast between her business accents and the cruel lines in her face.

"Mary," she said sweetly, "tell mother the truth. Did you take the necklace from your box?"

The child's eyes dilated with terror, and her voice was but a whisper as she answered:

"You've Fooled Everybody."

"That isn't the question, is it dear?" her mother replied, then held out her hand. "Come with mother, dear. We'll take a walk and talk it over."

Mary's face was white, her eyes anguished, but she moved away from her grandmother toward her mother's extended hand, almost as if told myself a child such as you've grown up to be. I might have moved toward a serpent.

But my mother-in-law put out a quick, nervous hand, seized the child by the arm, spun her around toward the house, gave her a little push, and cried in a high, peremptory voice:

"Mary, go directly to my room and stay there until I come. I promise you that your mother shall not punish you at all for the necklace. Run, now!"

Mary needed no second adjuration. Her thin legs sped over the ground like those of a fawn, and she did not once look behind her. Mrs. Harrison took one amazed step toward her mother, but my frate mother-in-law gave her no opportunity to speak.

"You'll Not Take Mary?"

"Don't you open your mouth to me, Elizabeth," she said, and I saw that she was in one of her worst "tantrums."

"Why in the world, I should have a child such as you've grown up to be. I don't know. Richard and Harriet have their faults, but you—you're a regular—I don't know what to call you. You've fooled everybody a long time with your moral suasion and your developing a free spirit and your 'no coercion' allowed with my children, but I've thought there was a darky in the woodpile ever since you've been here this time, and now I know."

"Whatever you do to those children of yours to make them mind, it's something a good deal more severe than the punishments ordinary mothers hand out. It's whipping and pinching. I wouldn't be afraid to bet a cookie, but there's one thing certain, you're not going to punish Mary this trip, not while I have my right senses to prevent it."

"Of course, I leave your house with my family this afternoon," Elizabeth Harrison said, with a white, set face. "Do just as you please about that."

My mother retorted with regal indifference, "but you'll not take Mary with you, not when I've had a talk with William. I'm going to find out whether he knows and approves of your methods, and I'm going to telegraph him right now to come on here and see me."

I have seen Mother Graham peel the skin from a tomato with less effectiveness than she accomplished the stripping of her daughter's mask of composure. It was a frightened, almost child-like suppliant that moved forward swiftly to clutch her mother's arm.

"Mother, you mustn't do that—mustn't tell William anything. I'll do anything you want, but—"

Her mother smiled grimly.

"I thought so. William always was a fool. If he hadn't always been so blind and daffy about you, and had taken a hickory stick to you when he first married you, he'd have had something out of you. Well, at any rate, I've got some holy blackmail to hold over your head now and don't you ever believe I won't use it if I ever hear of your doing anything to my children that will bring a look of terror such as Mary wore this afternoon!"

"Margaret, what are you dawdling around here for? Junior must have wakened from his nap by this time, and goodness knows there's enough to do in the house with that ape of a Katie gone without everybody looting the time away."

And having thus administered the high justice, the middle and the low, my doughty mother-in-law moved majestically to the house, while I mentally saluted her.

RAILROADS FIGHT TO BRING LOWER SCALE OF WAGES

(International News Service.)

CHICAGO, March 6.—Railroads today began a drive to bring down wages of their employees when hearings on applications for wage reductions by almost every rail transportation system in the country were begun before the United States railway labor board.

Nearly all classes of employees are included in some portion of the hearing, except the big four brotherhoods and the switchmen, who are negotiating directly with the roads.

The railroads are endeavoring to take away the remainder of the increases given two years ago. The last cut allowed by the labor board took away a large part of this increase.

Representative of the employees were on hand as the hearings opened to make a vigorous fight against the reduction of existing wages. B. M. Jewell, head of the railway employees department of the American Federation of Labor, whose membership

WAR DECLARED BY SOUTH ON 2 WORMS

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, March 6.—War to the death on the boll weevil and the pink boll worm has been declared by Southern cotton growers.

Inroads of the insect menaces now threaten serious curtailment of the South's cotton crop, and unless the government heeds the appeals of cotton growers their business faces bankruptcy.

Losses to producers are mounting annually at an alarming rate. Statistics available today show that in the 1912-13 season the insect pest destroyed 13.2 pounds of cotton per acre. That destruction continued rising until in 1920 the army worm, the boll weevil and the pink boll worm created havoc in the cotton fields and destroyed 73.5 per cent of the crop.

Unfavorable climatic conditions, ant diseases and loss through exposure while in transit mount up the diversities the cotton grower constantly faces. The season 1918-19 saw millions of pounds of cotton crapped from bales of worthless, caked and rotted from mud and water.

Statistics show that during the past five years the average quantity of cotton marketed from September to February has been 80.42 per cent of the year's handling. One of the contributing loss causes is the rush with which crops are hastened to the market, according to Governor John M. Barker, of Louisiana.

"In some years in the fall every avenue of transportation has been axed to its utmost," declared Governor Parker, explaining the cotton growers' troubles.

"Last year, for example, notwithstanding a holding movement which kept back about 3,000,000 bales of the year's growth, more than 8,000,000 bales were rushed from plantations from September to February, inclusive, and the year before, out of a total of 12,443,000 bales, the first six months' movement was in excess of 10,000,000. The rush is not exceptional."

"The yearly percentage does not materially vary. Defective terminals, inadequate storage facilities at and way from farms and plantations and a general indifference seem to attach to the cotton bale. There are some exceptions, however."

"If there were not the doom of the cotton raiser would have long since been pronounced."

NEWS OF MOULTON AND LAWRENCE COUNTY

MOULTON, March 6.—Through the kindness of Miss Annie Wheeler, a picture of her father, General Joseph Wheeler, is being presented to each school in the county. A public presentation is to be made and a program rendered by the children of each school at some time in this month. The program has been in part prepared by Miss Wheeler herself and by the county supervisor and superintendent. It consists of two or three songs, a sketch of the life of General Wheeler, some sayings about the general, a talk by some one of the trustees or patrons of the school who had known the most illustrious citizen of Lawrence county.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Yarbrough left this week for Tusculum where Mr. Yarbrough assumes his work as county agent for Colbert county. For the past several years Mr. Yarbrough has been the very efficient agent in Lawrence and he will be greatly missed in the county both by farmers and general business men. He took an active part in every movement that was made for the up-building of the county. Mrs. Yarbrough, too, took an active part in local school work and church work.

The first days of March have proven the worst days of winter to Lawrence county. High waters, cold winds and mud have affected the farm work already begun and delayed the prospect of an early improvement in the roads.

John White, of Knoxville, well known newspaper man, and for many years editor and publisher of the Moulton Advertiser, has been in Moulton on business for the past several days.

L. B. Cropper, formerly cashier of the Citizens' bank in Moulton, now of Albany, spent several days of this week with friends here.

Mrs. Earl Calvin and Earl, Jr., of Albany, have been the guests of her cousin, Mrs. S. R. Sanders, through the week. Her visit has been a pleasure to many in Moulton.

Walter Stephenson is reported as being much better after an illness of several weeks and it is said that he may soon be again able to attend to business.

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Lufburrow are rejoicing over the advent of a little son in their home and at the same time receiving the congratulations of friends over the great event.

The teachers of the Lawrence county schools received their salaries for February this week—a total payment of above $11,000.

Clark Jackson, prominent business man and citizen of Mount Hope, spent Thursday night in Moulton with his brother, W. R. Jackson.

Monroe Sandlin was a business call in Decatur early in the week.

REV. NORMA C. BROWN
Rev. Norma C. Brown, of Bloomington Ill., the only woman speaker of the Flying Squadron, was the youngest chorale in the Illinois state senate ever had and the only woman who has ever filled that position. She will be heard in this city on the third day of the visit of the Flying Squadron in its nation-wide campaign, in the First M. E. church on Friday afternoon and evening, March 10.

The Flying Squadron is divided into three groups, each spending a day in this city. Miss Brown takes with the third. Each speaker is heard both afternoon and evening in each city to which they go.

Miss Brown, though the youngest member of the combination, is reported to be a most interesting and charming speaker.

"HOW ARE YOU?" YOUR FRIENDS ASK

They Hope That You Are Well And Strong—Poor Health Is Unnatural

All your friends greet you with "How do you do?" or "How are you?" They want you to be in good health. Poor health means unhappiness and trouble and pain to you and your friends and is not what Nature planned for human beings. But through overwork or improper living people do become run-down and sickly. If you feel that way and are weak and nervous and do not sleep well and have headaches, get some Gude's Pepto-Mangan and take it with your meal for a few weeks and you will get your health and strength back again, and be as well as your healthy friends. You can buy it in liquid or table form. Ask for Gude's Pepto-Mangan—Advertisement.
